- 1.1 Siemens Energy (who may hereinafter also be referred to as the "Client") may cancel the order if the Supplier has not confirmed receipt of this Purchase Order in writing within two weeks from the time of receipt of the Order or Purchase Order.
- 1.2 Any modification, amendment or addition to the order will form part of the contract only if the Client expresses its acceptance in writing. The general terms and conditions of the Supplier will only be applicable if said terms and conditions do not contradict those of Purchase or if the Client expresses its acceptance in writing. The receipt of deliveries or services, as well as payments, does not constitute acceptance thereof.
- 1.3 Any conditions included in other documents provided by the Supplier (for example, specifications, technical sheets, technical documentation, advertising materials, shipping documents and / or order confirmation, among others) related to legal terms, responsibility, restriction of use, application restriction and / or suitability restriction, or any other condition that modifies the provisions of these Purchase Conditions will not be applicable.

2. Rights of use

- 2.1 By means of these Purchase Conditions, the Supplier grants the Client the following non-exclusive, transferable, perpetual, and applicable worldwide rights:
- 2.1.1 Right to use deliveries and services with related documentation, to integrate them into other products and to distribute them.
- 2.1.2 Right to install, launch, test and operate the software and its related documentation (hereinafter, collectively, the "Software").
- 2.1.3 Right to sublicense the right of use specified in sub-clause 2.1.2, to subsidiaries (as defined in subsection 15 of the German Companies Act (Aktiengesetz), hereinafter referred to as the "Subsidiaries"), to contracted third parties, distributors and final customers.
- 2.1.4 Right to allow Subsidiaries and other distributors to sublicense the right of use specified in sub-clause 2.1.2, to final Customers;
- 2.1.5 Right to use the Software to integrate it with other products, to copy the Software or to allow Affiliates and contracted third parties to use and copy the Software.
- 2.1.6 Right to distribute, sell, offer for rent, lease, prepare for download or make the Software available to the public, eg. in the context of the provision of application services or in other contexts, and copy the Software to the extent required, provided that the number of licenses used at any time does not exceed the number of licenses purchased;
- 2.1.7 Right to sublicense the right of use specified in sub-clause 2.1.6, to Subsidiaries, contracted third parties and distributors.
- 2.2 In addition to the rights granted in sub-clause 2.1, the Client, the Subsidiaries and the distributors are authorized to allow the final clients to transfer the respective licenses.
- 2.3 All sub-licenses granted by the Client must contain appropriate protection for the Supplier's intellectual property rights in the Software. All sublicenses must contain any contractual provision used by Client to protect its own intellectual property rights.
- 2.4 The Supplier will inform the Client - at the latest at the time of order confirmation - if the products and services to be delivered contain open source components.
- In the context of this provision, "open source components" shall mean any software, hardware or other information that the respective licensor provides royalty-free to any user on the basis of a license with the right to modify and / or distribute (eg GNU General Public License (GPL), GNU Lessee's GPL (LGPL), or MIT License). If the products and services delivered by the Supplier contain open source components, the Supplier will comply with all applicable open source license terms and grant all these rights to the Client; likewise, it will provide all the information that the Client needs in order to comply with the applicable license terms. In particular, the Supplier must deliver the following to the Client immediately after the order is confirmed:
- An annex of all the open source components used, indicating the respective license, its version and including a copy of the full text of said license, as well as a reference to copyright and / or authorship. This annex must have an understandable structure and a table of contents.
 - The full source code of the relevant open source software, including scripts and information about its generator environment to the extent that open source conditions require it.

2.5 The Supplier, at the latest at the time of order confirmation, will notify the Client in writing if the open source licenses used by the Supplier could be subject to a Copyleft Effect that could affect the Client's products. In the context of this provision, the "Copyleft Effect" means that the provisions of the open source license require that some of the Supplier's products, as well as any derivative products of said products, may only be redistributed in accordance with the terms of the open source license, for example only if the source code is revealed. In the event that any open source license used by the Supplier is subject to a "Copyleft Effect", as defined above, the Client has the right to cancel the order within a period of two weeks from receipt of this information.

3. Validity Period and penalty for non-compliance

- 3.1 For the purposes of establishing the timeliness of delivery, the relevant point in time is the date of receipt at the place of destination / delivery in accordance with the Incoterms ®2020 designated by the Client, and for deliveries that involve installation services, start-up and rectification, the relevant point in time will be the date of acceptance by the Client.
- 3.2 If any delay in delivery or execution or rectification is foreseen, the Client shall be notified immediately, and a decision will be sought.
- 3.3 If—in the event of non-compliance, or if a delay occurs—and the Supplier is unable to demonstrate that it is not responsible for the delay, the Client may charge a penalty that will equal to an amount of 1% (one percent) of the Purchase Order value for each business day started that is affected by the delay, but whose total amount may not exceed 10% (ten percent) of the total value of the contract.
- In the event that the appropriate reservation of rights is not made at the time of acceptance of delivery, services or rectification, this penalty can still be claimed if the reservation of rights is made no later than the final payment date.
- 3.3.1 The payment of the penalties agreed upon herein, does not mean that the obligations arising from the purchase order have been extinguished. The Client, in addition, may also claim the additional damages generated by the breach in order to obtain full compensation for the damages caused.
- 3.3.2 The value of the penalties may be taken directly by the Client from any amount owed to the Supplier, if any, or from the guarantees provided, and if this is not possible, they will be collected by an executive litigation process, for which the letter that notifies the penalty and the corresponding purchase orders are enforceable title document.
- 3.3.3 The Supplier expressly waives from now on the formalities of the requirement to be declared in default, for breach of the obligations that it contracts with the acceptance of the purchase order and the documents that comprise it. Therefore, from now on, it expressly accepts the simple written communication addressed to it in this regard by the Client.
- 3.3.4 Prior to the imposition of penalties, the following procedure will be followed:
- 1.- The Client will inform the Supplier about the origin of a penalty accompanying said communication with the supporting documents on which the claim has been established, as well as its amount; starting from the basis that any fine or pecuniary penalty must emanate from the effective contractual responsibility of the Supplier, determined by the Client in accordance with section 3 below.
 - 2.- The Supplier may, within the next five (5) business days, clarify or dispute the origin or amount of the penalty, accompanying for this purpose the documents that support its position.
 - 3.- The Client will decide, after considering the response given by the Supplier on the origin of the penalty, bearing in mind that in any case such penalty must result from the confirmation of the effective existence of contractual liability on the part of the Supplier.
 - 3.3.5 In the event that the SUPPLIER does not remedy the breach, in addition to the application of penalties, the Client may execute the pending activities directly or through third parties charged to any amount owed, present or future, to the Supplier. If this provision is applied, the Client may deduct the amounts incurred, plus an administration fee of 10% of the amounts paid, from the following invoices in this or other Purchase Orders. In the event that there are not sufficient sums in the balances, this Order together with the payment supports will constitute an enforceable title for the claim of said amounts.
- 3.4 The Client will not be liable to the provider for indirect, consequential damages or loss of profit.
- 3.5 The provisions herein do not affect additional rights or other legal rights.

4. Transfer of risk, Office and Place of execution, Transfer of ownership

- 4.1 For deliveries that involve installation, commissioning or services, the transfer of risk occurs after acceptance and for deliveries that do not involve installation or commissioning, the transfer of risk will be upon receipt by the Client in the place of destination / delivery designated in accordance with the Incoterms

© 2020. Unless otherwise agreed, Incoterms © 2020 DDP (designated place of destination) will apply if (a) the Supplier's headquarters and designated place of destination are within the same country or if (b) the Supplier's headquarters and designated place of destination are both in the European Union. If neither (a) nor (b) are met, Incoterms © 2020 DAP (designated duty station) will apply, unless otherwise agreed.

4.2 Unless otherwise agreed, the costs of proper packaging will be borne by the Supplier. In the event that the transport costs are assumed by the Client, the notice of availability for dispatch will be sent, together with the information provided in sub-clause 4.3. At the Client's request, the Supplier must use an order routing tool from Siemens Energy. Transportation will be coordinated by the Supplier at the lowest possible cost, insofar as the Client has not requested a specific delivery method or the entering into of a transportation contract by the Client. Any additional cost arising from non-compliance with transportation requirements, including costs arising from non-application of the Siemens Energy order routing tool, shall be borne by the Supplier. In the event that Incoterms © 2020 DAP / DDP (designated place of destination) are agreed, the Client may also determine the method of transportation. Any additional cost arising from the need to meet the delivery date through improved delivery will be assumed by the Supplier.

4.3 Each delivery will include a packing slip or delivery note with details of the content, as well as the full order number.

4.4 Insofar as the Client and the Supplier agree that the Supplier orders the carriage of deliveries containing dangerous goods on behalf of the Client, the Supplier is responsible for transferring the legally required data on necessary goods to the transporter designated by the Client when placing the transport order. In these cases, the Supplier is also responsible for packaging, marking, labeling, etc. in compliance with the respective regulation of the forms of transport used.

4.5 If the Client informs the Supplier that after the initial transport, another transporter with a different form of transport is to be scheduled, the Supplier will also follow the relevant legal requirements concerning dangerous goods in relation to the transport in progress.

4.6 The transfer of ownership will occur after the delivery of the equipment or acceptance of the services by the Client, as the case may be.

5. Payments and invoices

5.1 Unless otherwise agreed or the law indicates something different, payments must be made no later than 90 (ninety) days after the invoice is presented, according to the payment dates established in each country. The payment period will start as soon as the invoice issued and sent correctly is received, according to the procedures established by Siemens Energy: Send the electronic invoice to the mailbox facturacionelectronica.col@siemens-energy.com and confirm receipt with the mail proveedores_colombia.aan@siemens.com; in case you have an existing invoice on paper, send the original invoice and 2 copies to autopista Medellín Km 8.5 – Costado Sur Tenjo – Colombia that will be returned with the stamp of filed, additionally, they must bring a copy of purchase order. In all cases the invoice must comply with the requirements of Article 617 of the Tax Statute and the rules that regulate the matter. Except for the case of small and medium-sized companies, in which case the term will start from the provision of the service or delivery of the order, in which case they must present an invoice within a maximum period of 5 days after the service has been provided or the goods have been delivered. The breach of this obligation shall be understood as suspending the term for payment in the terms established by law.

5.2 The order number as well as the number of each individual item will be detailed on the invoices. If said details are omitted, the invoices will not be payable. Copies of invoices will be marked as duplicates.

5.3 Insofar as the Supplier has to provide important evidence, test records or quality control documents or any other documentation, these will form part of the integrity of delivery or execution requirements. A discount will also be allowed if the Client compensates or withholds any payment to some reasonable extent on account of any deficiencies.

5.4 Payment does not constitute an acknowledgment of the corresponding delivery or that the services were provided under the contract.

5.5 All direct or indirect expenses and taxes of the national, departmental, or municipal order that are caused by reason of the execution and fulfillment of the purchase order, will be for the exclusive account of the Supplier (except those that by legal provision correspond to the Client) and will not cause any refund by the Client. Likewise, the Supplier will respond to any new provision and / or any modification that occurs within the tax legal regime.

6. Inspection after receipt

6.1 The Client, immediately upon receipt at the designated destination, will examine whether the delivery corresponds to the quantity of the type of products ordered and whether there is any obvious transport damage that can be recognized or other apparent deficiencies.

6.2 If the Client detects any deficiency in the course of these inspections or at any later stage, it will communicate said deficiency to the Supplier.

6.3 Services or goods can be rejected within the period of one month of delivery of a product or execution, and to the extent that deficiencies are not detected until commissioning, processing or first use, within one month of being detected.

6.4 In this sense, the Client will have no more duties towards the Supplier than the inspection and notification duties mentioned above.

7. Warranty

7.1 If deficiencies are identified before or during the transfer of risk or during the warranty period stipulated in sub-clauses 7.8 or 7.9, the Supplier must, at its own expense and at the discretion of the Client, repair the deficiency or provide the services again or replace the deliveries (i.e. rectify). This provision also applies to deliveries subject to inspection by sampling tests. The Client's judgment will be exercised appropriately and reasonably.

7.2 If the Supplier fails to rectify (that is, repair or replace) any deficiency within a reasonable period of time established by the Client, the Client will have the following rights:

7.2.1 Right to cancel the contract in whole or in part without being subject to any Unrestricted liability for damages.

7.2.2 Right to demand a price reduction.

7.2.3 Right to carry out any repairs at the Supplier's expense or to re-render services or to make replacement deliveries or to have them done. In case of incurring such costs, the Client may deduct the amounts incurred from the following invoices or other Purchase Orders, plus a charge of 10% of this value for administration purposes. In the event that there are not sufficient balances, this Order together with the payment supports will constitute an enforceable title for the claim of said values.

7.2.4 Right to claim damages in lieu of the provision.

For the purposes of establishing the rectification deadlines, the relevant point in time is the date of receipt at the destination.

7.3 The rights stipulated in sub-clause 7.2 may be exercised without additional time limits if the Client has a strong vested interest in immediate rectification in order to avoid any own liability for the delay or other pressing reasons and it is unreasonable for the Client to request the Supplier to rectify said deficiency within a reasonable period of time. The legal provisions on the need to set a deadline are not affected.

7.4 Unless the parties agree to a different term, the aforementioned rights will expire after one year from the date of notification of the deficiency, but in no case before the expiration of the warranty periods established in this sub-clause.

7.5 Other additional or other legal rights are not affected.

7.6 If the Supplier provides a subsequent execution or repairs, the warranty periods established in sub-clauses 7.8 and 7.9 begin again.

7.7 Notwithstanding the transfer of risk in connection with the delivery, the Supplier shall bear the costs and risks related to the rectification (e.g. return costs, transport costs, disassembly, and reinstallation costs).

7.8 Unless expressly agreed otherwise, the warranty period for material deficiencies is three years, to the extent that no legal provision grants longer periods.

7.9 The guarantee period for deficiencies in the title is five years, insofar as no legal provision grants longer periods.

7.10 For deliveries that do not involve the execution of installation or commissioning tests, the warranty period begins to operate upon receipt at the destination designated by the Client. For deliveries involving installation, commissioning or services, the warranty period begins to operate with the Client's acceptance. After delivery to places where the Client is carrying out operations outside its facilities, the warranty period begins with the acceptance of the end Client, in no case after one year from the transfer of risk.

If this is not possible for legal reasons, the Client and the Supplier hereby agree that the Client will own the new product at all times during processing or transformation. 13. Right to early termination and cancelation

13.1 In addition to the rights stipulated according to law to terminate a contract, the Client may terminate the contract in whole or in part in the event that: (a) the Supplier commits a delay in its delivery or service and said delay persists for more than two weeks after receipt of said reminder or in the case or period indicated in the communication that requires compliance (b) when, due to causes attributable to the Supplier, the Client cannot be expected to maintain their contractual relationship considering the circumstances of the case. and the interests of both parties.
