Welcome to Transmission Service

It does not matter, what kind of challenge is arising with your installed based equipment, our Transmission Service Team will be available to support you.

We can offer analysis, consulting, planning, technical offers, order execution as well as emergency support!

Transmission Service – tailor-made solutions for you.

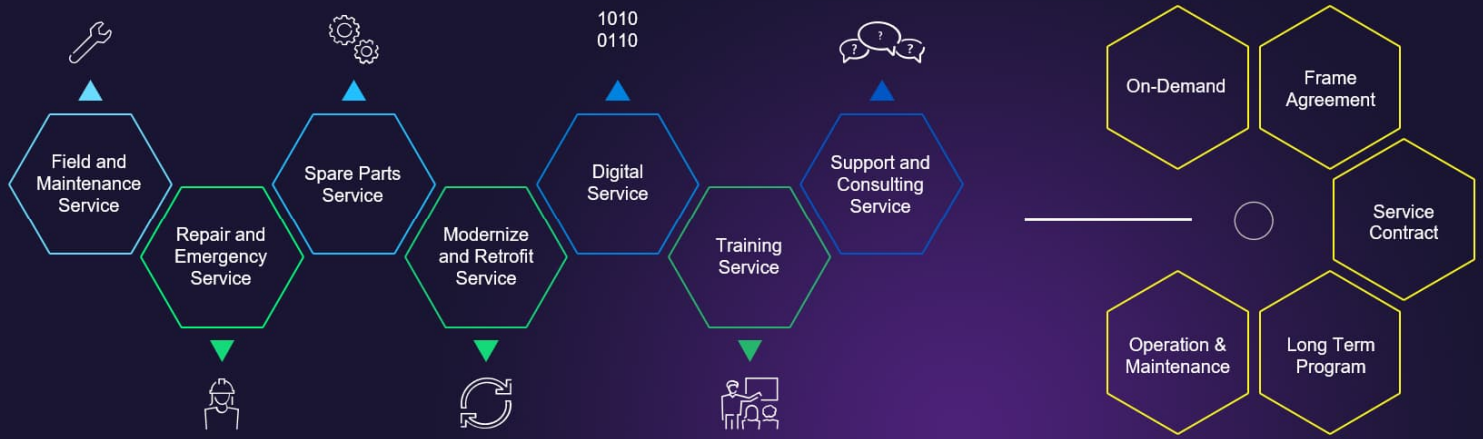

We will help you to keep your Transmission Equipment in good shape and ready for tomorrow's requirements by using well known and new technologies.

Transmission Service takes care for environmental issues and resource-saving usage of our technologies by not scrapping equipment but keeping it up to date.

Transmission Service is not only rebuilding or supplying spares, but also puts a focus on trendsetting technologies and services by for example introducing also electronic monitoring systems

Siemens Energy Transmission Service is your local partner for your current and future transmission enhancement projects.
