

Matthias Hain

Sales Manager
Grid Access
Siemens Energy

Matthias Hain is an environmental engineer with 16 years of experience in the energy business. In 2005 he joined the Siemens family in the field of power generation and worked on various international EPC projects for combined cycle power plants. Since 2016 he is a tender and sales manager for large-scale offshore grid access tenders offering sustainable solutions for our international customers.