Re: Provision of Rolls-Royce specifications to suppliers for the manufacture of (ex RR) Energy components for Siemens

To whom it may concern:

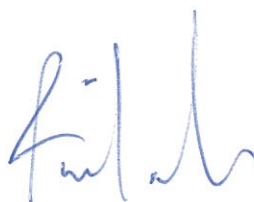

Rolls-Royce sold its energy aero derivative gas turbine, compressor and related aftermarket service business to Siemens in December 2014. Under the sale agreements Siemens may use Rolls-Royce drawings, specifications and other technical information to continue the manufacture of components for the sold business, including in its external supply network.

As such, you as a supplier to Siemens may discuss and share such information with Siemens when discussing the manufacture or for quoting purposes of said components.

Sincerely,

Richard
Brattle
